FY 25/26

Kinston Police Department
Keith Goyette, Chief of Police

FY25/26 KPD Budget

The Kinston Police Department is staffed by 74 dedicated full-time employees, who work together to provide professional law enforcement services and ensure the safety of the community.

The FY25/26 Kinston Police Department Budget has been prepared in accordance with North Carolina General Statute 159-10, which mandates that municipal budgets be balanced, performance-based, and consistent with the city's strategic priorities. This budget links every expenditure to the measurable outcomes outlined in the Kinston Police Department Strategic Plan 2022-2027, ensuring that public resources are deployed efficiently, transparently, and with demonstrable community benefit.

Rather than serving as a simple accounting document, the budget functions as a strategic policy tool that guides implementation of the Department's ten major goals, including maintaining a safe and secure community, strengthening recruitment and retention, upgrading facilities and technology, and enhancing community partnerships. Each dollar invested supports one or more of these strategic objectives and is directly tied to outcomes that improve the quality of life for Kinston residents.

By aligning financial planning with the City's overarching fiscal management standards and community priorities, the Kinston Police Department's FY25/26 budget advances three guiding principles:

1. Fiscal Accountability: Every allocation is justified by data, outcome measurement, or statutory requirement.
2. Operational Efficiency: Investments are designed to yield measurable returns in service delivery, transparency, and sustainability.
3. Community Impact: Spending decisions reinforce partnerships with residents, schools, local organizations, and social service providers—ensuring that policing remains people-centered, fair, and responsive.

In accordance with the City of Kinston's management protocols, the Department continues to evaluate performance through annual benchmarks, cost-efficiency metrics, and community engagement outcomes, allowing continuous alignment between financial stewardship and public trust.

One of the central elements of the Strategic Plan is the commitment to attract and retain qualified officers. The budget supports this priority by funding competitive salaries, benefits, and professional development opportunities. These investments not only help the department remain competitive with surrounding agencies but also ensure that officers are well-prepared to meet the evolving challenges of modern policing. In addition, the budget provides for updated equipment and technology, which enhances efficiency, transparency, and accountability, key pillars of the Strategic Plan.

Beyond personnel and technology, the budget also reflects the department's dedication to community partnerships. Funding for outreach programs, neighborhood patrol initiatives, and public safety campaigns ensures that the Strategic Plan's vision of stronger community relationships is realized. By aligning financial resources with strategic objectives, the Kinston Police Department demonstrates that its budget is not simply about dollars and cents, but about creating a safer, more connected, and more resilient city.

The Kinston Police Department's budget is divided into four main categories: Total Personal Services, Total Fringe Benefits, Total Operating Expenses, and Total Capital Outlay. Each category plays a distinct role in ensuring the department can operate effectively and meet its strategic goals.

The largest portion of the budget is typically Total Personal Services, which covers the salaries and wages of sworn officers, civilian staff, and administrative personnel. This category is the backbone of the budget, as it ensures the department can recruit, retain, and compensate the people who carry out its mission. Without adequate funding here, the department would face staffing shortages that could directly impact public safety and community trust.

Closely tied to this is Total Fringe Benefits, which includes health insurance, retirement contributions, paid leave, and other employee-related benefits. These benefits are essential for maintaining a competitive edge in recruitment and retention, particularly as law enforcement agencies across the region compete for qualified officers. By investing in fringe benefits, the City of Kinston demonstrates its commitment to supporting the well-being and long-term stability of its workforce.

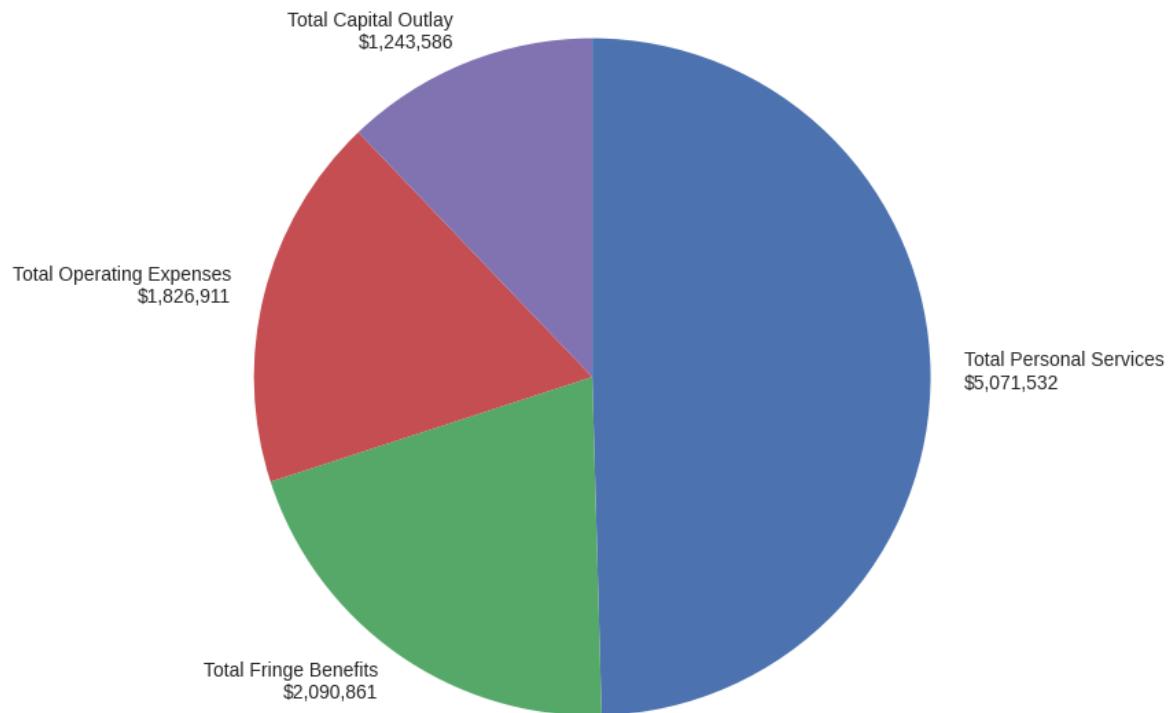

The third category, Total Operating Expenses, funds the day-to-day costs of running the department. This includes fuel for patrol vehicles, uniforms, training programs, technology systems, and supplies needed for both patrol and investigative work. It also supports community engagement initiatives and administrative functions that keep the department responsive to residents' needs. Operating expenses are what keep the department agile and able to adapt to new challenges, such as emerging crime trends or public safety demands.

Finally, Total Capital Outlay represents long-term investments in infrastructure and equipment. This category funds the purchase of patrol vehicles, specialized equipment, facility improvements, and technology upgrades. These investments are critical for ensuring that the department remains modern, efficient, and prepared for the future. For example, replacing outdated vehicles reduces maintenance costs and increases reliability, while upgrading communication systems enhances coordination during emergencies.

Together, these four categories create a balanced budget structure that supports personnel, benefits, daily operations, and long-term growth. By allocating resources across all four areas, the Kinston Police Department ensures that it can meet immediate needs while also planning for sustainable improvements that align with its Strategic Plan and strengthen public safety for the entire community.

Category	Amount (USD)	Percentage
Total Personal Services	$5,071,532.00	50%
Total Fringe Benefits	$2,090,861.00	20%
Total Operating Expenses	$1,826,911.00	18%
Total Capital Outlay	$1,243,586.00	12%
Total Budget	$10,232,890.00	100%

Kinston Police Department Budget Breakdown

The department's total budget increased to $10,232,890 for FY25/26, up from $9,483,900 in the prior year. This growth reflects both rising personnel costs and significant capital investments. The Kinston Police Department's budget distribution reflects a deliberate balance between immediate operational needs and long-term strategic goals. The largest share, Total Personal Services at $5,071,532 (50%), underscores the department's commitment to staffing, ensuring that officers and civilian employees are fairly compensated for their service.

Fringe Benefits at $2,090,861 (20%) further strengthen this commitment by providing health, retirement, and other support systems that help recruit and retain qualified personnel. Meanwhile, Operating Expenses at $1,826,911 (18%) fund the daily essentials of policing—fuel, uniforms, training, and technology—keeping the department agile and responsive to community needs.

Finally, Capital Outlay at $1,243,586 (12%) represents investments in the future, from patrol vehicles to body-worn camera and in-car camera improvements, ensuring the department remains modern, efficient, and aligned with its Strategic Plan. Together, these allocations demonstrate how the budget is not just about managing costs, but about strategically investing in people, operations, and infrastructure to build a safer and stronger Kinston.

One of the most significant additions to the Kinston Police Department's budget this year was the purchase of new patrol vehicles. The department requested 14 vehicles and was approved to receive 10, which represents a substantial improvement compared to the previous two budget cycles where only two vehicles were funded. This increase was critical, as many of the department's existing vehicles had reached the end of their service life, resulting in higher maintenance costs and reduced reliability. By securing 10 new vehicles, the department can better ensure that officers have safe, dependable transportation to carry out patrols, respond to emergencies, and maintain a visible presence in the community.

Another major priority was the enhancement of the department's camera systems. The budget included funding to strengthen the body-worn camera program and to begin reintroducing in-car cameras to the patrol fleet. These technologies are essential for transparency, accountability, and officer safety, providing valuable evidence in investigations and reinforcing public trust. The department partnered with Axon to purchase new cameras, taking advantage of a financing plan that spreads costs over five years at 0% interest. This agreement also included cloud storage, ensuring that video data is securely maintained and easily accessible. Together, these investments in vehicles and camera systems represent a forward-looking approach to modern policing, aligning with the department's Strategic Plan and commitment to both operational readiness and community trust.

The FY25/26 budget demonstrates a balanced approach: sustaining personnel and benefits, covering operational necessities, and making long-overdue capital investments in vehicles and technology. By prioritizing both workforce stability and modernization, the Kinston Police Department is positioning itself to meet current demands while building capacity for the future.
